House Bill Would Curb U.S. Plans for Latins

WASHINGTON, March 15 (AP) — The chairman of a House subcommittee introduced a bill today to prevent the Reagan Administration from aiding any clandestine operation against the Sandinist Government in Nicaragua.

Representative Michael D. Barnes, Democrat of Maryland and chairman of the Subcommittee on Inter-American Affairs of the Foreign Affairs Committee, said the legislation was intended to prevent an episode such as the Bay of Pigs incident in 1961 in which Cuban exiles tried to invade Cuba.

He said his bill added to the momentum of efforts in Congress to assert more control over Administration conduct in Central America.

Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr. of Massachusetts said today that he would oppose any attempt to assert more control over the Administration's actions in the region.

Representative Barnes announced his plan on the NBC News program "Meet the Press."
